

The Spirit knows what He is doing

For the Spirit always knows what He is doing. The Spirit is God and therefore there is security in the Spirit. Your mind is wondering, but your spirit is not. Therefore yield to your spirit. And as your spirit connects to the Holy Spirit there is peace, there is assurance, there is confidence and there is rest.

The Spirit of God knows exactly how to guide you. Like Romans 8 says: Those that follow the Spirit are the sons of God. You are a child of God. Yield to the Spirit, because He will lead you and He will guide you. There is insecurity in your mind and in your flesh. But there is no insecurity in your spirit, because he knows exactly what he is doing. He always has the right answer. He always knows the way, because He is God.

So rejoice! Rejoice in the Lord, confidently knowing that He is guiding and leading you. And all things will be well. All things will be well. All things will be well.
