Faithfulness will be rewarded

- translated into English -

Your way has been like you walking on eggshells. But then you began to be faithful to Me and this way became a street. Instead of eggshells there are stones now. The next phase will be like you walking on water. Miracles will happen all the time and everywhere, where you listen to Me, where you give yourself to Me and stay faithful. Because you consecrated yourself from the ideas and opinions of other people that you highly esteem, but you thought more highly about Me.

You dared to trust yourself to listen to My voice and you obeyed Me. I reward that today and it will be like day and night. It will be for you as if you would be a new person. You shall remember that day, where I changed your life, where I promoted you, where you came up a step higher. Closer to the goal. Clearer to the planes that I have for your life. I love you. I treasure you. I love to be together with you. Someone who is wholeheartedly devoted to Me, he is a treasure in my eyes and I protect him like my own eyeball.
