Stir It Up!

And again I want to remind you to stir up the gift from God within you. Just because another week has passed, or another month, doesn't mean that those gifts and callings are not there anymore. Just because you have been busy, doesn't mean that you are not called anymore. Just because you have been distracted, doesn't mean that anything changed regarding your calling or regarding the purpose of your life. Regarding the dreams that God has given you. And likewise, the things that you started in faith, some did a week ago, some two weeks ago, some a month ago, when hands were laid on you, when you received prayer, just because you didn't have it on your mind, doesn't mean, that thing is over with.

So therefore stir up what is within you. The gifts and desires that God has planted. You have to keep it alive. The gift comes from God. He is the Giver, but you are the one who keeps it alive. You are the one who stirs it up. You are the one who walks it out. You are the one who has to act. God gives and He supplies. And He encourages and strengthens. But it is you who is walking in it. So therefore stir it up again, stir it up by praying in the Holy Ghost. Stir it up right now!
