The Lord is with you

The lesson, that you are supposed to learn, is not meant to be for you intellect. It is meant for your spirit man, so that you would change. And that you would be transformed into more of who you really are. Into more of what you have been created to be, so that the light of His glory would shine through you and rivers of living waters would flow in the desert all around you. In the panic and the fear, you are supposed to be a fountain that is itself far from any fear. A fountain overflowing with grace and love and peace. Because the One who is the Giver lives on the inside of you. So therefore rejoice children of God. Rejoice, rejoice, for the Lord your God is with you.
